Dear Notre Dame Community and Guests,

We are thrilled you have chosen to visit the University's Title IX Website! It is our hope that our students, faculty, staff and guests to campus utilize this site as a resource for Title IX Information.

The University of Notre Dame strives to foster an inclusive campus environment that embraces the talents and achievements of all individuals regardless of race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, disability, veteran status, age, or genetic information. We do not tolerate sexual and discriminatory harassment of any student, faculty or staff member of the University community. Sexual harassment includes sexual assault and sexual misconduct. If one person is sexually assaulted on Notre Dame's campus, it is one too many. If one person is harassed based on their gender or any other unique attribute of their being, it is one too many. Together, we strive to create an inclusive and safe environment where all individuals may flourish.

As the Title IX Coordinator for the University of Notre Dame, I am proud to lead the important effort of working to create a safe and equitable campus where all voices are valued. Title IX work at the University of Notre Dame is a collaborative effort that requires the minds and voices of many partners from across several campus units, including the Division of Student Affairs, the Office of the Provost and Human Resources.

As you review this site, if you have questions about our processes or suggestions for improving our efforts, please feel free to contact staff in the Office of Institutional Equity, the Deputy Title IX Coordinator or the Faculty Affairs Specialist. We look forward to continuing to work with you and our administration to improve campus climate by carrying the legacy of those who came before us, implementing the innovative recommendations of those currently partnering with us and securing a safe and harassment free campus for generations to come. Thank you for uniting with us on these important initiatives!

Yours in Notre Dame,
